Mrs. Baxter, a widow seventy years old, was found drowned in a barrel of rain water, Wednesday, at Middlebury, Vt., with her head downwards, and a tin utensil in each hand. The village of Townshend, Vt., on the Brattleboro and Whitehall Railroad, was the scene of a disastrous fire, Friday night. Flames were discovered issuing from E. J. Knapp's store, and rapidly spread to the post office, Charles Tafts' house and harness shop, Charles Tafts' house and Mrs. Wilkinson's house, all on the west side of the street, which were burned. There was no fire engine in the village, consequently the flames took their course.

The heavy fall of snow Friday and Saturday in New York State was remarkable for this time of the year. Railway travel was much impeded and floods are feared if warm weather should set in. The storm on the Lakes was severe and twelve lives are believed to have been lost. The barges E. C. Buel and Oliver are supposed to have been wrecked. Schooner Snowbird went ashore at Charlotte, N. Y., and an unknown vessel from Picton, Ont., at Braddock's Point. Anxiety is felt for nine vessels that left Oswego for Canada, Friday night. The coroner's jury at Rio, Wis., has concluded its investigation of the recent disaster on the St. Paul road. "We find," says the verdict, "that the switch was left open by the negligence of C. H. An immense audience assembled at Metropolitan Hail, San Francisco, Friday night to express their indignation over the murder of little Mamle Kelley who was shot down in such a cowardly way by Alexander Goldenson on Wednesday last. Several fiery speeches were made, and when the meeting adjourned the excited crowd left the building and proceeded to the county jail where the prisoner is confined with the evident intention of taking him out and lynching him. While passing through the streets the crowd was greatly increased in size, and by the time its destination was reached numbered 10,000. Several attempts were made to storm the jail, but it was so strongly guarded that the police were enabled to repel the mob at each attack. At ten o'clock the excitement had somewhat abated, and no trouble was anti-ipated.

Sam Purple, a man of bad reputation, resided at Marine, Kanasa. Friday morning his wife arose as usual and prepared breakfast. She went to awaken her husband, which so earaged him that he sprung violently from bed, selzed his revolver and shot his wife through the body, killing her instantly. Her new-born babe was next fired at with the same result. He next shot and killed another of his-children. A fourth was fired at his sister-in-law, Miss Lowber, the ball passing throuth her arm and lodging in the shoulder. This empted his revolver, and he proceeded to load his shotgun in order to complete the work. A slight mistake in this was the only thing that stopped the deadily proceeding. The powder was poured into one barrel and by error the shot into another. With this he attempted to blow off the head of another child, but on account of the mistake only the face of the child was injured. The inturiated husband then mounted a horse and started toward Marine, with the avowed purpose of murdering his wife's parents. Before he could accomplish this, however, the wounded sister-in-law had made her way to the village and notified the inhabiants of what had happened. Purple meanwhile hastened to detunore and surrendered. He was lodged in jain under a heavy guard. On Monday night a mob of 100 men went quietly to the jail and demanded the prisoner, who was delivered with little ceremony. Tuesday morning he had paid the penalty of his deed and was hanging stark in death. The child that crept under the bed in the only member of the family that escaped death or lajary.

Mr. Lang, to use a homely expression, is putting some brains into his work as one of the executive officers. His suggestions may well receive a measure of attention at the coming session of the State Grange at Augusta, and a proper time should be set apart for the purpose.

Dr. Goessman of the Massachusetts Ex-perimental Station, says that practical experience in feeding stock has so far ad-vanced that it seems to need no further vanced that it seems to need no further argument to accept it as a matter of fact, that the efficiency of a fodder ration in the dairy does not depend on the mere presence of more or less of certain prominent fodder articles, but on the presence of a proper quantity and a certain relative proportion of some prominent constituents of plants which are known to be essential for a successful support of the life and the special cessful support of the life and the special functions of the dairy cow. If we are left behind by the energy If we are left behind by the energy and push manifested by the people out in the extreme West, who but our ourselves are to blame for it? In Denver a city ordinance imposes a license of $500 per year upon dealers in oleomargarine, whether wholesale or retail. And it is proposed to collect this license in addition to the $480. license fee demanded by the general government of wholesale dealers and $48 per year of retail dealers. If this can be done it will go a great way toward closing the market of that city to the "stuff," and if Denver can impose this sort of city license every other municipality may do the same

Prof. Arnold, the eminent dairyman. writes in the Canadian Farmers' Advoa estimate upon the value of permanent an estimate upon the value of permanent pastures. Such pastures, he believes, can only be defended in the case of land un-mitable for anything else, or when farmers have more land 'than they can till. This is just the reason why we should hold to our just the reason why we should hold to our pasturage. The lands are cheap and the feed furnished is the cheapest keep, so far as it goes, that can be furnished our stock. The idea sometimes advocated by theoretical farmers of deserting these cheap pastures and relying wholly upon cultivated errors is the highest nonsense on the cheap erops is the highest nonsense on the cheap lands of this State. The solution of the cattle disease prob what the final outcome may be cannot now be even guessed. Some of the owners of the large distillery herds have recently signified a willingness to have their cattle prized and destroyed and trust to the next gislature for reimbursement. It is possi ble this may be the course taken. But even in this there is encountered the unfore-seen obstacles of disposing of so many carcasses with no special provisions of law for doing it. Meanwhile considerable numbers of cattle are dying of the disease, and bers of cattle are dying of the disease, and new cases of affected herds are being dis-covered in the vicinity. The report of the appearance of the disease in Clinton and Jasper counties has not been confirmed up to the present time.

An Aroostook farmer has been feeding damaged starch to hogs with good results. It was wet up with scalding water and mixed with meal. The hogs fed upon the mixture made rapid gain. Raw potatoes fed to hogs or stock of any kind are not considered rich food, yet well ripened potatoes contain some fifteen or sixteen per cent. of starch. If this starch were digesti-ble in the raw state as found in the potato, it ought to respond when fed to animals.

There is an opinion among observing feeders that cooked potatoes are far more nutritious than in a raw state. This we believe has never been tested so as to become a recorded fact, but may be true nevertheless. It would be an interesting experi-tive feeding value of raw and cooked po-County Farmers' Institutes were held

n Aroostook county according to pre-rious notice, Nov. 10th, at Houlton, and at Blaine the 12th. While in attendance on these institutes an opportunity was afforded to make some observations among the far-mers and on the business of the locality directly connected with agricultural af-fairs. The Institute at Houlton was thinly stended through the day, though the eve-aling brought out a larger number which made up a fair attendance. For some rea-son the village of Houlton is always "too busy" to give much attention to affairs of agricultural flavor, being willing apparelly to leave all such matters to the farmer se. A new effort, however, has been made and a park has been fairly well equipped (by farmers alone) for another effort, and the cattle show of last fall held upon it was etter sustained. Whether this shall go on to a career of usefulness in developing the agriculture of the surrounding towns will largely depend on the encouragement it receives from the village. Progress and enterprise with its resulting prosperity among the farmers, is certain to make itself felt large the care. It is then cutter as more than the contract of the farmers, is certain to make itself feit upon the town. It is, then, quite as much advantage to a village that the agriculture surrounding it is encouraged and promoted, as it is to those who are directly engaged in it. It always must be that the country will divide its prosperity with the village. This agricultural society at Houlton, as well as all kindred efforts, should then receive the hearty cooperation of the entire people, and they should feel called upon to put forth their united efforts as needed. When this is done, the society will enter on a career of usefulness and become instrumental to the prosperity of all. Without this support, and so long as the load is left for a little band to carry, it will weight them heavily and the society cannot be made the useful organization it is well calculated to be. Some complaints are just now heard that the farmers of the suburbance been, reluctant to come to the aid of needed village improvements. To an outside party familiar with the altuation, the advantage of a recognition of mutual relations of town and country are brought forcibly out.

The foreneon of the institute was given.
